"Our informational picket is a way to show solidarity and demonstrate that the issues affecting us matter. By being present, we are advocating for better conditions, which directly impacts our job and patient care. It's also our chance to get our voices heard and make Valley great again! It's important for my coworkers to be there because there is strength in numbers. When we all show up it will send a clear message to management that these concerns are shared across the board! By standing together, we can amplify our collective voices and push for the contract that we deserve." -Michelle Dunn, Surg Tech, Birth Center

"We need to inform our community that Valley administration wants to continue to propose takeaways on our priorities that are very important to us! With no compensation for our losses. We need to all stand together in unity and fight for a contract we deserve!" -Tracy Eckberg, RN, Infusion Center

"We are going to be at the picket because we deserve better wages that matches our peers at UW Medicine system. Not only that, we need safer staffing, more sick time to be able to take care of ourselves. We cannot take care of our patients if we ourselves are sick. We are asking for the bare minimum from the management when they are making millions of dollars and yet they are not willing to make any changes on their end. It is time to take action as when we fight, we win!" -Tejinder Kaur and Ramandeep Sandhu, RNs

"Being present at the picket is important because it sends the message that Valley employees are united. We are standing up for ideals that benefit everyone who works hard to make a living and our patients. Valley needs to be made aware that we aren't asking for better pay just for the sake of having more money. We need to be able to take care of our families and ourselves if we are to provide the best care possible to the Renton community!" -Gloria Zamudio, Radiology Tech

What is an informational picket?

An information picket is when we all stand united to send a strong message to Valley Medical Center and to alert our community about what is happening at our hospital.

An informational picket is NOT a strike. We will picket on our breaks, before or after our shifts, or on our day off.

It is illegal for management to discipline us for taking part in an informational picket.

An informational picket is an effective way to bring our message to the community.
